

2-17-2004

The Troubadour, Issue 10 (February 17, 2004)

Cardinal Stritch University

Follow this and additional works at: <https://digitalcommons.stritch.edu/troubadour>

Recommended Citation

Cardinal Stritch University, "The Troubadour, Issue 10 (February 17, 2004)" (2004). Troubadour. 1.
<https://digitalcommons.stritch.edu/troubadour/1>

This Book is brought to you for free and open access by the Newsletters at Stritch Shares. It has been accepted for inclusion in Troubadour by an authorized administrator of Stritch Shares. For more information, please contact smbagley@stritch.edu.

THE TROUBADOUR

Feb. 17, 2004

Issue 10

Golf Plus Show to benefit The Campaign for Cardinal Stritch University

The Milwaukee Journal Sentinel Golf Plus Show has grown to be the largest golf exhibition in Wisconsin. This year, thanks to Joan Stein, campaign chair, and her husband Jack Stein, president of Stein Gardens and Gifts, The Campaign for Cardinal Stritch University will reap benefits from this popular event.

The Steins, in conjunction with the Milwaukee Journal Sentinel, have pledged to donate $1 to the Campaign for every ticket sold to the March 5-7 event at the area's 14 Stein Gardens and Gifts stores. The golf show will be held at the Wisconsin Exposition Center at State Fair Park.

"This is a wonderful gesture on the part of two exceptional friends of the University," said Sr. Mary Lea

Schneider, Stritch president. "I know a lot of golfers attend this annual show; now let's hope they all buy their tickets from Stein's," she added with a laugh.

As an extra bonus, Stein Gardens and Gifts will sponsor the Chipping Challenge, in which golfers can buy the chance to chip a golf ball into the hole for prizes. Half the proceeds from the Chipping Challenge will also be contributed to the Campaign and the expansion of Bonaventure Hall.

The weekend, which last year drew golfers from as far away as Florida, features the newest equipment, individual instruction, a celebrity golf challenge and a variety of seminars for the golf enthusiast. Ticket prices are $7 for adults, $5.50 in advance. Children under 12 are free when accompanied by an adult.

Human Resources is on top of business law

Business law is complicated. Modifications, updates or amendments that can influence how work situations should be managed are made frequently. But often, departments are in such a rush to resolve problems that they neglect the proper course of action. That is, to discuss concerns with the Human Resources Department in the earliest stages of the situation.

The Human Resources Department reminds the campus community that they are available and prepared to assist all staff, supervisors and managers with any HR-related circumstances. Disciplinary problems, medical concerns, liability issues and many other personnel matters fall under the department's scope.

"The HR department receives updates from our attorneys on a regular basis," said Melissa Halaska, director of Human Resources. "When we are notified of a situation in the early stages, we can work with those involved to alleviate or solve the problem in the most peaceful and fair way possible."

Halaska encourages staff and faculty to contact her at ext. 4222 with any questions pertaining to Human Resources.

Mark your calendar

All-University Assembly

An all-University assembly is scheduled for Friday, March 5 at 3:10 p.m. in Schroeder Auditorium to prepare the University faculty and staff for the Higher Learning Commission of the North Central Association reaccreditation site visit. All faculty and staff are required to attend.

A reception will follow in the Student Union.

From the Franciscan Center

Sr. Mary Beth Ingham, CSJ, will speak on campus April 1 and 2 about John Duns Scotus, a noted Franciscan Scholar of the 14th century. Her presentations, for faculty and staff, will be at noon both days in the Board Room. She will give a lecture on Scotus at the Sisters of St. Francis Convent, 3221 S. Lake Dr., on April 2 from 6:45 to 7:45 p.m. That presentation is open to the public. For more information, contact Sr. Margaret Klotz at Ext. 4275.

6 to be honored with Martin Luther King, Jr. awards

The Martin Luther King, Jr. Peacemaker Awards are presented to individuals representing the Stritch student population, faculty and staff, plus the greater Milwaukee community. It recognizes their continuing efforts to further King's dreams and goals.

The 2004 award recipients are Dr. Daniel Di Domizio, professor of Religious Studies; Margaret Wilhite, assistant professor of Sociology; Cynthia Fox, academic advisor and students, Wola Asase and Meagan Heidkamp-Young. The Community Award will be presented to Diane Johnson, executive/artistic director of the Modjeska Youth Theatre Company, Inc.

The fifth annual Martin Luther King, Jr. Peacemaker Awards will be held Feb. 18 in the Student Union.

Black History on the Web

“Black History Month: A Collection of Resources” is the title of a new Web site created by the Stritch Library in honor of its month-long celebration of February as Black History Month. Visitors to the site can read speeches by Abraham Lincoln and Sojourner Truth, learn about important court cases and major events in black history and find links to a variety of related topics. To visit the site, go to <http://library.stritch.edu/blackhistorymonth/index.htm>.

Changes in store for students

Making the registration process easier for students is the goal of changes put into effect recently by the Financial Aid and Businesses offices.

The Business Office has begun notifying students about refunds, bookstore charges and other pertinent account information via e-mail. The Financial Aid Office has also switched to using e-mail to inform students of scholarship opportunities, missing information and notification of financial aid awards.

In another Web-related change, the Financial Aid Office has expanded its Web pages to allow students to complete many procedures directly from their computers. They will now have the ability to view the status of their financial aid, download forms and complete loan processes online, eliminating the need for several trips to the office.

These changes are focused on making processes more efficient and easier for students to complete.

Locate previous Troubadour issues

All copy in The Troubadour is written by Linda Steiner and Vicki Bobman of Public Relations. If you have story ideas or feedback, e-mail us at prdept@stritch.edu. Previous issues of The Troubadour can be found in StritchNet. After logging in, click on New Document Library, then click on All Staff to find The Troubadour link.